

Motivation for Mt 18:15-20

I invite you to take a moment to notice the people you are praying with this week. You may be meeting them for the first time today, or have known them for quite some time already. Why are they here now, with you? What has brought you all together?

The Gospel for the 23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time we are about to hear is being realised in our situation here today. You are here, all of you have joined this Lectio, to listen. I encourage you to listen attentively to the Lord so that you may pierce through to the heart of the passage and encounter the great Love that awaits you there. It's all about love!

How will this love renew you today? Inspire you? Encourage you? Where do you need this love in the situations of your life? Prepare your heart now to encounter love in the Word of God...
